I live on Water St in South Capitol near the east edge of the affected waters, and am strongly in favor of restoring the estuary. I realize there will be more odors at low tide than we have experienced in the past, but this is a natural occurrence. I'm in favor of the updated methods, especially the geotubes vs sheetpile, providing more natural shoreline habitat than the original plan. In my view it is worth the added temporary impact to the Deschutes Parkway, and I hope alternate routes will be reasonable for impacted residents. I hope we can prioritize funding at the city, county, state, and federal level for this crucial project.
