Jabali Trippsmith

As a resident of Washington who plays and lives and loves and respects the Deschutes River area, I write to you with passion for environmental protection of this unique habitat that gives life to so much diversity. Please protect it. Please do everything you can to stop the rape and destruction of this vital area that so many of us care about and for all the wildlife and vegetation that depend on it to thrive. We are stewards of this land and water. As a young man, I don't even know anymore if there is a future out there for me. So I feel impelled do whatever I can to stop the destruction of our environment, especially the Deschutes.

