

Sara Millard

We are not California! This law is not logical in any way. We should be able to choose what we drive. The fact that people can't even buy a certain size motorhome or pickup anymore is unbelievable. What about the semis? How many times would they have to stop and charge up? How are the power stations going to accommodate for how many semis are on the road each day? Or how long will you have to wait in line for your turn. I guess people don't care if goods get from one place to another in a reasonable time. It's unrealistic! So many businesses will go under because it is being forced. I have nothing good to say.