

David Speikers

Why do you want to keep following a State that has been riddled with poor policies. We already have the highest increase in gas and fuel prices since the election. Now you want to increase the cost of goods and services by increasing transportation costs. Electric mandated trucks will not have government subsidies and should not. I would love to be in a zero ignition world powered by fusion or hydrogen but until we have a price point to switch to these, you would create anger among us who are desperate to continue to feed their families. STOP this nonsense.