

George Prudden

The technology for zero-emission large vehicle engines is not ready. Not only does the technology not exist, but charging facilities with a realistic turnaround time don't exist. Please do not pass a regulation requiring the use of non-existent technology.