

Judith Downey

Anything that will help with air quality should be implemented, starting with the elimination of diesel engines.