

Elisa Gross

Please do not take on California's example of anything, look at California as an example of what not to do. The more you hike up the prices, especially an essential like fuel/gas, it is a hardship on our economy & working families. Our big cities are already suffering greatly; the working class & families suffer from the outrageous prices in our state. Make Washington state the comeback state because of affordable living, virtues, morals and values that put people first.