I support the clean truck rule. Please do not dilute it - the technology is there and costs are coming down rapidly. China, for example has already surpassed 10% market share of new heavy trucks being pure electrics. Europe is only a couple of years behind them.

Also, please be prepared for court battle with the current toxic Federal government. This is not a reason to give in, but rather, to stand our ground and protect our state's clean air and climate-action roadmap.

Thank you,
Assaf
