I am at my breaking point. One more increase in my tax obligations or increase in costs due to regulations will cost me my ability to stay in my home. I am retired and own what I thought would be my last home. Unfortunately I have been researching other less costly states to move to. I do not want to leave Washington. I was born here and have never lived in any other state! I just can not afford it anymore. What ever you do, do not increase my costs or I will be forced to leave.
