

Daniel Renfrow

This will have terrible unintended consequences of raising transport prices which will further burden WA residents with higher prices and reduce competition. I also would like to know how air quality is objectively measured and show that this will have an impact. I don't think this is worth the cost to society.