

PETER FELS

I strongly support Ecology's proposed updates to the clean trucks rules to conform to the new California standards. I live in Vancouver, close to the I-5 freeway, and our area has consistently been rated as having unhealthy air. The City of Vancouver is in the process of adopting new codes to improve its overall GHG emissions within city limits, but we are unable to lower the emissions from transportation as a city, even though emissions from transportation are the highest area of concern. We need state action. The advanced clean trucks rule will help us meet our GHG reduction goals and help improve air quality. Please adopt the proposed rules.