Stop following other states' rules. The prices for the rules within Washington state so far make it impossible for many residents to make ends meet. Also, why are private planes and the sale of fireworks not stopped, since they produce an incredible amount of poison for us all. It is interesting, that regular Washingtonians are crushed by gas prices due to the environmental protection rules, but rich people with their private planes can still poison the environment, as well as the state who allows the sale of fireworks.

Not only are they bad for the air for everyone, but also for Veterans and all animals, domesticated and wild.
