

Richard Alexander

I strongly oppose Washington state tying trucking emissions standards to California's rules. This trucking cost always gets passed onto the consumer. Washington State is broken and dysfunctional when unelected bureaucrats at the Department of Ecology think they can make any rule that they want regardless of how damaging it is to the trucking industry and consumer.