Please do not follow in the foot steps of California and other states. Our state is already in trouble with ridiculous regulations that are costing many of the current Washingtonians, like myself, more money in rising fuel prices, which directly relates to every one of my other monthly utility bills. I simply am not sure how much longer I can live in this state with the out of control; prices and rising taxes.

Please leave things alone before you and others simply kill this state and everyone will either be homeless, unemployed, and or moving out of state
