

Stephen Shubert

We need affordable electric vehicles in this state and nation. The fastest way to reduce airpollution and cut our carbon footprint is reducing the use of gasoline and other oil based products. Electricity is cheaper than gasoline and electric vehicles are simpler to maintain, which will save money and provide reliable transportation for working people .

The middle class is collapsing by design, captured by oligopoly. We know what oligopoly economics creates. We will follow the path of russia. Breaking the oil oligopy is best done by switching to electric. Vehicles rather than general economic collapse

.