

Bob Higgins

If we don't begin to take the dwindling supply of fresh clean water seriously through conservation and environmental safeguards in a few years we may be celebrating the World Memory of Water Day.