

Thomas Ogren

All fracking waste originating in the state of Pennsylvania should be discharged into a river or rivers within the state and not in the Delaware River which is shared with New Jersey. Since Pennsylvania has decided to allow fracking it should deal with the consequences of fracking without affecting New Jersey. I urge the DRBC to disallow the discharge of Pennsylvania's fracking waste into the Delaware River.