

Scott Jewett

Hello, my name is Scott Jewett and I am with the movement to ban fracking within the Delaware River Basin. Considering the fact that we obtain most of our drinking water from the Delaware River, I am concerned with the strong possibilities that fracking within this area is contaminating the river. Water that is used in fracking has to go somewhere, and the Delaware River is a prime spot for that water to lead to. Also, this isn't just water we are talking about. Acids such as Hydrochloric acid is used in the process and a prime example as of what risks come along with fracking. Overall, there seems to be much more cons that outweigh the pros. Therefore, fracking needs to be stopped worldwide, and more specifically, in the Delaware River Basin.
