

Janet Rich

There should be no fracking in the Delaware River Basin, including no withdrawal of clean water or any disposal of water used in fracking. Our water resources are precious and scarce and must be preserved for human use. Our children and grandchildren are counting on our protection of vital natural resources.