

Deborah Flad

Please do not frak in the Delaware River Basin. The likelihood of good water and land going bad is too great. A company may get all it wants from its fraking wells in short-order but those of who live, work, play, and stay in the Delaware River Basin will be stuck with the resulting damages for generations.