

Terence Manno

The regulations proposed by the DRBC concerning our countries energy independence is completely one sided. I disagree with the proposed regulations and believe the DRBC needs to look at the facts of the tens of thousands of wells drilled in the States. The DRBC is an agency that is accommodating nonprofit organizations that are spreading scare tactics to push their agenda. Hopefully the Federal Government under President Trumps popular agenda steps in and stops this agency from breaking the constitutional amendment by stealing from landowners in this part of the country with no compensations. The DRBC should be supporting energy independence and work with the industry to have a balance of environment and modern living. I disagree with these proposed regulations being presented by the DRBC and the head of this agency needs to be investigated for proposing such drastic regulations