

renee hack

The process of storing waste products outside of the basin where there has been a moratorium on fracking makes no sense. The toxic waste will affect surrounding aquifers and neighborhood ground water. It is far better to invest in renewable sources of energy instead of polluting our environment. Keep the basin free of waste and any fracking waste.