

Janine Nichols

I am heartened that our new Governor is ready to confront the dangers proposed by fracking, more pipelines and other threats to our environment. It is MADNESS to think of fracking the Delaware River, ultimately the source of drinking water for 15 million people, though it would not matter if the danger was posed to "only" some smaller number of people (Think of the people of Flint). Why in the world would we risk delivering arsenic into our drinking water? Are humans, in our capacity to rationalize ANY behavior, simply an evolutionary dead end?

Renewable energy is the ONLY way forward. We must outlive this Trump administration, overturn and un-do each and every action of EPA destroyer Pruitt, and protect our water, land, and air for our children and theirs and theirs.....