

PA Forest Coalition.org

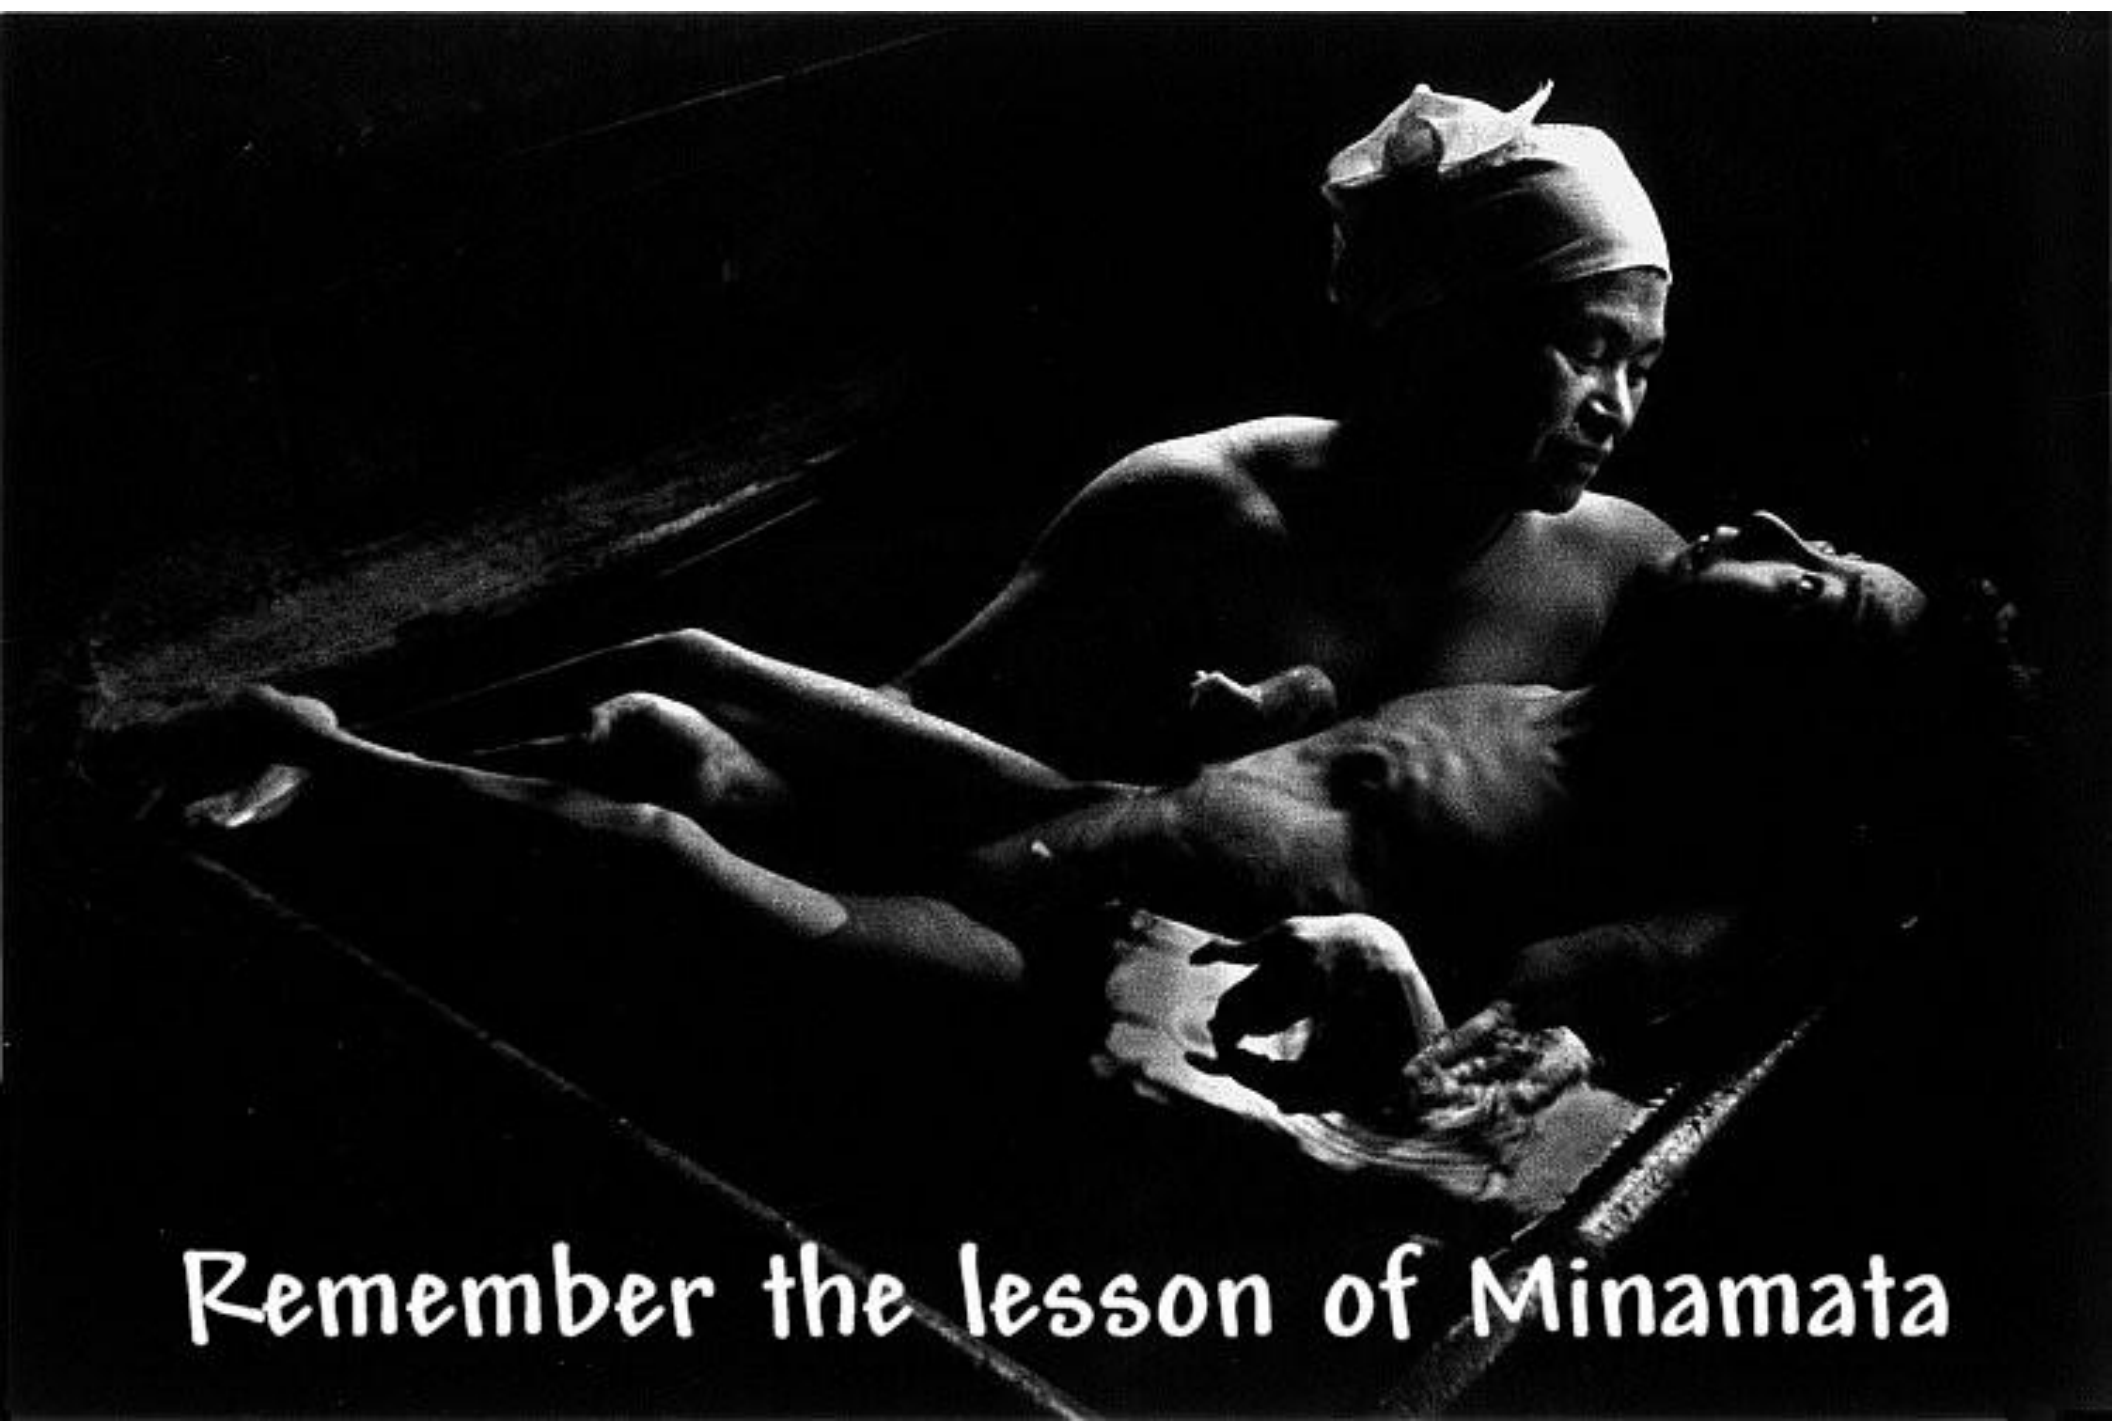

We need the help of DRBC. After a 63,000 gallon spill last November, the PA DEP stated "no public water supplies were affected". Of course not; the spill was in rural Lycoming County where folks rely on private water wells.

"Safe" is the ABSENCE of risk. The only sure way to protect those of us in the Delaware River watershed is to completely ban hydraulic fracturing, completely ban the importation of any type of fluids associated with gas drilling and completely ban the exportation of water from the Delaware River basin for use elsewhere. We cannot even risk the contamination of our waters by equipment that might transfer Didymo, AKA "rock snot" into our streams.

Is this the future of our PA WILDS ?

www.PaForestCoalition.org

Remember the lesson of Minamata

Do nothing and you'll have a fracking mess on your hands