

Liz Cutler

There has been a lot of evidence that fracking is bad for public and environmental health. The Delaware River Basin is a hugely important water source and has great economic value as a wild and scenic river. I am asking for a complete ban on fracking to protect human health against water, air, and ground pollution as well as maintain the river's purity for the other ecosystems that are connected to it.