

Camille Doucet

With so much know about the deleterious effects of fracking during operation and after, (like the disposal of fracking waste) it is folly to pursue this venue for energy production. With climate being at a significant no-return turning point, engaging in hydro-fracking technology of energy production is criminal. It is time to turn to alternative and non-fossil energy production. There are no good reason to wait any further and only good reasons to move into the new energy era. Save communities, water and air quality, ban fracking in NY, in the Delaware Basin and everywhere forever more.