

Jon Fein

Our environment, and especially our rivers, are too fragile and vital to allow the potential harms of fracking. All-too-often in the past we have proceeded, frequently with good intentions, without necessary thought and care. With cost-effective, low impact, and sustainable renewable energy technologies available, we don't need more fossil fuels.

Please ban fracking and anything that supports or contributes to that dangerous, short-sighted and greed-based industry.