

Henrietta Stern

As a concerned citizen, I want my representatives to know that I want fracking permanently banned from the source of my drinking water in the Delaware River Basin. It is up to us - ordinary citizens and our representatives - to think about the long-range consequences and take a stand against corporate short-term planning. Corporations have no incentive to look at their actions beyond immediate profits. It is clear that the Federal government's current environmental policies are leaving it up to states and local communities to protect themselves against harmful decisions by corporations. There is enough evidence now that demonstrates how wasteful and harmful fracking is to our aquifers. Fresh, clean water is our life blood and our right. Do not sell that right! Protect our future now!