

Little Lakes Sustainability Network

There are now thousands of studies which demonstrate without question that the chemical components used in fracking are dangerous to human health. Why would any entity ever want to pollute the water that so many depend upon for their lives? Pollution of the Delaware from fracking components is nothing short of a crime against humanity.