

Kathy and Jim Grentzenberg

Man, it is certainly difficult to "keep up" with all the critical issues we face. This one hits close to home. That is the water I drink. Fracking, not only uses tremendous amounts of water, but obviously produces mass quantities of "waste water." Fossil fuels have got to go!! They are, literally, destroying the planet we all inhabit. What about investing all this time and money into solar? Someone has got to be a leader; the face of change! How about you all? Thank you!
