Horizontal and Vertical Hydraulic Natural Gas Drilling (not really natural) or Fracking is an unsafe process that might likely cause a cancer epidemic and a serious spike in cancer deaths as the process uses about 20 carcinogens including Bromides, Methane, Arsenic, Radon and other hazardous chemicals in the public domain but these illness- causing greedy energy corporations have locked 60% to 70% of the chemicals out of the public domain. That makes sense only if you are corporation already subject to environmental protest and concern so that your full disclosure of what you use will raise the clamor for a ban on fracking much louder.

I do not think corporate profits and Patents & Trademarks should out weigh the public right to complete disclosure. Nor do I think there is any price whatsoever on public health. But, the Energy Corporations appear to be more concerned about profit than millions of people exposed the possibility of a cancer death. One cancer death from fracking is not acceptable.

Finally with the current environmental policies of the climate change denying President and administration tykeing that they are unwilling to admit they are wrong ---now is the time to give them the serious wake up call our lives are not for sale to their toady corporate buddies willing to kill too many people for corporate profit. This is unacceptable and now is the time to put an end to non-scientific realities.
