

Will Parker

I grew up down there but i've been living in upstate New York for half a century. I remember the water was fantastic back then. I live out side Ithaca NY and my water source is Bolton Point and it is rated the second best in this state. I head back home once a year and I've found that I have to bring my own water for drinking in glass jars. My mother land there is ruined with mass development and i wonder where the water comes from to run everything down there. As much as I miss it. I could never live there again. Everything is destroyed.
