What is more precious than clean drinking water? Certainly not profits for oil and gas companies! We must protect the DRB from contamination. No matter how careful we may try to be, accidents happen and in Pennsylvania intentional violations have happened by the illegal dumping of fracked water. River basins are vital to healthy communities, oceans and all that live near them. I find it hard to believe that there are those who are even considering fracking in the Delaware River Basin. It should be obvious. Please don't let commercial greed win over common sense, the need to protect the people that live around or in the basin and the planet.
