

harold oaklander

In any geographic location, clean drinking water must be given first priority simply because it is so critical for sustaining life.