

scot randall

The Earth's water is in danger. Not even global warming deniers can deny this one. Just travel around and see rivers that can actually catch on fire. The Hudson River is getting better now - but the Delaware is a clean slate. An opportunity to not have to dig ourselves out of a hole later, when it's too late. Fracking isn't about energy - it's about money. And, it's dangerous. And we don't know anything about the long term effects. PLEASE take this opportunity to draw a line in the sand and save this national treasure for our children. Thank you.

