

Karen Stanton

We are all watching these landmark decisions around the country.

They could set positive or dangerous precedents for the rest of us.

Water is our most precious resource now and into the future, it is not fully renewable and once it is compromised, there is often no going back without great effort if feasible at all. We must recognize that today or be thirsty for years to come. Corporate greed should not outrank citizen necessity....EVER!