

Marietta Carter

The reason why there is so much opposition to fracking is because it poisons the water that people depend on. Water is a precious resource that will be needed to support our planet for as long as the human species exists. There is absolutely no compromise possible here. There can be no fracking in the Delaware basin or anywhere close.