

Marcey Cook

Contrary to what the Corporations would like us to believe, there is scientific proof that fracking harms water supplies, can cause earthquakes, harms the quality of life for those in the community living where fracking is done in in the path of transport, and adds to noise and air pollution (particulate matter) and infrastructure costs to communities in the path of transport. Here is one example alone:<https://insideclimatenews.org/news/29032016/fracking-study-pavillion-wyoming-drinking-water-contamination-epa>

There are many other examples. I ask that Pennsylvania rethink fracking, and pursue discontinuing fracking in our beautiful state.