

Paul Glover

Fracking within the Delaware River watershed is a form of genocide, since it will inevitably poison crops, animals, and water which is consumed directly or indirectly by millions.