

Brian Warner

How can this be allowed to occur with New York City drinking water at risk? If you look at the foresight city planners had when they developed this reservoir and water delivery system for a burgeoning city you disgrace its brilliance when you put the entire system at risk by shortsightedly poisoning the water system in a money grab. Some things can't be undone.