Dear Sirs,

I have had a home on the Delaware River for over 30 years and am very aware of its status as one of the few clean rivers left in America. The Delaware is already stressed due to the demands of the Pepacton and Cannonsville reservoirs and New Jersey. It is a tragic and irresponsible idea to consider using it as a source for fracking water or to consider any dumping of fracking waste in the Delaware valley. Though I oppose this practice anyplace, the Delaware valley is a particularly sensitive area. Water is Life!

Thanks you.
