

Ellen Belisle

Our drinking water is a precious commodity. Fracking and using the Delaware River Basin to dump waste from fracking is a stupid idea. Once contaminated it would take too much time and money to clean up this natural resource. Forget about the temporary advantages and look at the true cost. Think about how it will affect your children and grandchildren.