

Dylan Morse

Hopefully the chances of this being read is small because of the massive public outcry and stream of letters which you receive because of the prospect of hydrofracking. I'm 17 and see the world I'm growing up in sadly fading away. The beautiful waters of the Delaware River Basin I have fished for all my life should not be polluted and wasted for benefits of nonrenewable energy. I don't need to give any scientific evidence that isn't already clear regarding the CLEAR RISKS to the environment that fracking poses.
