There are many negative effects and costs that come along with fracking. It disrupts many people's ways of life whether it be disrupting their jobs, their homes, or even their own personal health. Fracking contaminates local resources that get into peoples households. Fracking can lead to harmful chemicals getting into groundwater that people then ingest, thus getting them sick. We need to stop fracking no matter the effort we must put forth. Our future and the future of other generations depends on it.

Sincerely,
Pierce Mahon
