

John Phillips

I am categorically opposed to fracking, whether for gas or oil, in the Delaware River Basin or anywhere else. Fracking inevitably pollutes the water and the air, both directly and due to the dumping of used frack water. Even worse, fracking unlocks previously inaccessible deposits of fossil fuel, worsening global warming and undermining the critical transition to renewable energy.