

Tom Casey

The DRBC should make every effort to expand public discourse, not inhibit it. There should be no restrictions on the use of the Freedom of Information Act for citizens to access public records.