I feel this is disgraceful to the land and the environment! The fear of losing crops and cattle, even loved ones that swim or float the rivers the water passes through! It's bad enough the moss is something to fear, why have to fear the water! Water is life and no need to damage the earth any more than it has already been damaged! Let its Texas oil waste take it there! Don't leave behind their trash and grub to ruin our land! We Wyomingites have worked hard to keep what we have clean and try to fight for it to stay clean, the reservation don't need any of this trash on its land either!
