

Terry McClellan

Allowing fracking companies to dispose of their fracking water into a reservoir is just stupid. Regardless of what regulations are in place to make sure this water meets some theoretical safety minimum standard, do you think I actually trust fracking companies or our Wyoming government to make sure these standards are met. Absolutely not. Do not go forward with this permit.