from the moncrief ranch and a natural gas producer we have spent hundred of thousands of dollars to dispose of are produced water the right way. badwater goes directly through the ranch, ever since produced water was being dumped in badwater the fish have disappeared, stream flows have changed, we have flooded pasture land with more weed problems then we had in last 20 years. Just thinking of all the cows that have to water out of badwater. what happens in the fall when there is no run off to dilute the salt water? The amount of industrial Clorox that they treat the water with making the creek smell terrible, is that do to dead bacteria that is naturally in the water or the Clorox? that about all the wildlife that waters out it? does not make any since to me, this should not be allowed!
