I oppose the proposed dumping of oilfield wastewater in the Moneta oil and gas field which will most assuredly threaten human health and aquatic life in Boysen Reservoir, the Big Horn River, and the canals that irrigate the crops that feed the families of the Big Horn Basin and beyond. How is it not possible that the contaminants in this wastewater will not ultimately find their way into the fish of the reservoir and its waterways and the crops that it irrigates? Boysen Reservoir is not a waste pond and should not be utilized as such just as a matter of convenience.
